

DIVINE GRACE LUTHERAN SCHOOL: February 22, 2026

The one who says, "I know him," but does not keep his commands is a liar, and the truth is not in him. The one who loves his brother remains in the light, and nothing causes him to stumble. 1 John 2:4,10 (EHV)

The One Who Loves His Brother

Imagine saying to a police officer, "I know you! I like you!" But then you grab his hat and run away laughing.

Imagine saying to a teacher, "I know you! You're the best!" But then you cheat on a test in her classroom.

Imagine saying to your brother or sister, "I love you!" But then you punch them in the arm or say something mean.

People would say, "That doesn't make sense." You can say you love someone a hundred times, but if your actions don't match your words, people won't believe you.

That's what the apostle John was teaching when he wrote, "The one who says, 'I know him,' but does not keep his commands is a liar." John was talking about Jesus. If someone says they know and love Jesus but never listens to him or never tries to do what he says, their words don't match their actions.

That can feel a little scary. Have you always listened to Jesus? Have you always been loving? Kind? Obedient? John also writes, "The one who loves his brother remains in the light."

So think about today: Were you kind to your brother or sister—or did you say something mean? Did you listen to your parents and teachers—or argue and complain? Did you treat classmates and friends with love—or ignore them or hurt their feelings?

These questions help us do something important called repentance. Repentance means admitting we have sinned and being sorry about it. But repentance doesn't stop there. Repentance means taking that sin and sadness to Jesus. And here's the best part: Jesus forgives. Always. Jesus is the one who perfectly loved his brothers and sisters—us! He showed that love by going to the cross and taking the punishment for our sins.

Because Jesus loves you and forgives you, you really do know him. And because you know him, you want to listen to him. That's what it means to be "the one who loves his brother" and "remains in the light."

Prayer: Lord, as you first loved us, inspire us to love one another. Amen.

Dinomite!

Our preschoolers learned so much about dinosaurs through hands-on fun. From digging for fossils, to exploring how dinosaurs lived, and even inspecting dinosaur eggs, our little learners were curious, excited, and eager to discover more. I loved watching their imaginations and knowledge grow as we explored these amazing creatures together!

Letter: J

This week, we are diving into prehistoric animals and God's amazing creations! Our preschoolers will explore incredible creatures like saber-tooth tigers and mammoths, while also learning about birds that are still around today. We will marvel at how God designed animals long ago and continues to care for His creation today.

Preschool Tidbit: With the weather going up and down, our playground is a wet, glorious mess (haha!). Please continue to send snow gear with your child, as we go outside every day, weather permitting. Also, a quick reminder to make sure cups go home every day, and nap bedding goes home every Friday (or their last day of the week).

Thank you so much!
